

Audio Consulting Services Process

- Step 1: Initial Consultation
- Step 2: Assessment, Research & Design
- Step 3: Options & Resources Consultation
- Step 4: Final Tweaking of Planned Project

A description of each step follows:

Step 1: Initial Consultation

An initial consultation is set up to discuss your needs. The initial consultation will cover both technical and creative aspects of what you want to accomplish.

After the initial consultation, an estimate will be sent to you for the total cost of the work to be done. An outline for the project will be provided in order to ensure that the job can be done to your satisfaction and within your budget and timeline.

Step 2: Assessment, Research & Design

Upon approval of the estimate, an assessment is made of the work to be done. If necessary or applicable, additional research and design work may be done to produce solutions that fit within your budget and timeline. Audio Production work will involve a critique of the material provided.

Step 3: Options & Resources Consultation

In this part of the Audio Consulting Services process, we will discuss the options available to you. Based on your feedback, if revisions are required a final estimate will be submitted to reflect the changes.

For Audio Production Consultations, an initial assessment of the provided material will be presented and discussed.

Step 4: Final Tweaking of Planned Project

For Audio Production Consultations, specific recommendations may be presented based on the feedback obtained in Step 3.

In the case of a Home Studio Design, a layout will be presented with resources for any materials that are required.
